GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCIL:

Having been designated by the suffrages of our fellow-citizens to conduct the municipal affairs of our city for the present year, and having in solemn form assumed the obligations of our respective positions, we are now to enter upon the discharge of the several duties and responsibilities belonging thereto.

In obedience to time-honored custom, I proceed to speak in general terms of the condition of our city affairs. It is not to be expected that I should be familiar with the details of the several departments; or be able, at this time, to make specific recommendations for your consideration. I shall do this hereafter as occasion shall seem to require.

The subject of our finances, always important, is peculiarly so at the present time. Owing to extraordinary circumstances, common alike to all other cities and towns of our country, our expenditures for the past three years have considerably exceeded our income; and as a necessary consequence our indebtedness has been constantly increasing, until the aggregate, though not nearly as large, proportionably, as many other towns and cities, is still of sufficient magnitude to justify the anxious thoughts of our citizens. Nor is it certain that the exigencies of this trying period of our country's existence will not imperatively demand a still further strain upon our resources and our credit.

I have no doubt, however, both of our ability and our willingness to respond to all legitimate calls upon us, and to maintain the credit of our city in the future, as it has been in the past, unimpaired. To accomplish this result two things are necessary. First, to confine our expenses within the smallest possible limits consistent with due regard to the present and prospective welfare of all the interests of our city; and second, a firm determination on the part of our citizens to tax themselves to such an extent as shall effectually prevent any further increase of our indebtedness, unless in response to calls for maintaining the national life, to sustain which no sacrifice should be deemed too great.

Our entire indebtedness at the close of the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1864, is about four hundred and fifty thousand dollars; three hundred and sixty-one thousand dollars being for bonds and notes falling due from 1866 to 1894, and the balance being notes on demand, bills, and unadjusted claims against the city. There is due to us from the State, for aid furnished to families of soldiers since May 1st, 1864, about thirty thousand dollars. We also have a claim upon the State for the State bounty advanced to one hundred and fifty re-enlisted men, and something may be realized from the General Government for advances made of United States bounty, although, owing to deaths, desertions, and various other causes, the amount to be realized from the latter source is quite uncertain, and must be small in any event. The City Treasurer also estimates that fifteen thousand dollars will be realized from taxes now due and uncollected.

The annual report of receipts and expenditures will soon be published, and to that I must refer you for the exact details of our financial condition. Whether under all the circumstances the present year is a favorable time to commence the reduction of our debt, and if so, the extent to which the reduction shall take place, are subjects for your careful and earnest consideration.

The manner of keeping the accounts and disbursing the funds of the several departments, I should judge, has been very much improved during the past few years, and possibly some further improvement may be made in the same direction. That system is the best which best promotes individual responsibility; and the books should be so kept as to show at all times the exact condition of the several appropriations and all the business operations of the city.

Our public schools, forming as they do one of the chief corner stones of our social and political fabric, have been, and should continue to be, the constant recipients of our bounty and our care. The amount of money annually expended for this object is larger than for any other, and our citizens have a right to demand in this, as well as all other expenditures, that the full value shall be received. It will be for you to determine what amount, if any, beyond the requirements of law, shall be appropriated the present year.

As a valuable addition to our means of education, and as a source of constant pleasure and profit to our citizens, the importance of our city library can hardly be over-estimated. I believe its capacity for usefulness was never greater than at the present time; and it will be our duty, as well as our pleasure, to contribute in every proper way to sustain and enlarge its means of doing good.

The subject of building and repairing highways and bridges must always be of importance, from its intimate connection with the safety and comfort of our citizens, as well as the large annual expenditure necessarily required for such purposes. The very best disposition of the appropriation for these objects, and which shall satisfy the greatest number, is an exceedingly difficult problem to solve; and yet, industry and energy, guided by good judgment on the part of the superintendents, aided by fair and just criticism on the part of citizens, will, I think, materially help the solution. I am not aware of any calls likely to be made for new highways the present year ; and in this connection I would venture the opinion that in many instances of the building of new highways, if a portion of their cost had been expended on those already built, the public good would have been better promoted thereby.

The paving of Elm street meets with such general favor, that I am sure I do but repeat the common sentiment when I recommend the continuance of the work the present year, to such an extent as shall seem advisable.

The improvement made in watering our streets the past season has been quite marked ; and although it may seem to many a trifling matter, I think every one having business on Elm street can bear witness to the comfort and convenience as well as the pecuniary value of well-watered streets, during the heat and dust of summer. That our streets should be well lighted is also a matter of consequence, and some changes in that direction may possibly be of advantage.

Our public grounds are important to us, both as sanitary agencies and as ornaments to the city. Proper care and attention, given at the right time and in the right way, with a very moderate expenditure of money, will do much to increase their attractiveness and their value. Perhaps no one thing is more likely to give a favorable impression of our city to strangers, than the natural beauty of our public grounds, enhanced and improved by judgment and good taste.

It may not be considered out of place in this connection, to mention a prospective improvement, one which, when accomplished, will not only contribute largely to the health and substantial comfort of our citizens, but will greatly stimulate the growth and material prosperity of our city. I refer to the introduction of water. The advantages of such an improvement are so obvious that they need not be recapitulated, and its accomplishment should be considered as a question of time only. Let us hope that the speedy return of peace and union to our country will bring to us renewed activity in all our industrial pursuits, and thus hasten the consummation of this enterprise.

The immunity of our city from destructive fires for the past few years, is a source of congratulation and thankfulness. Our fire department, though not often of late called into active service, I have reason to believe is in a very efficient condition, and prepared for any emergency likely to arise. An addition of fifty-eight by thirty-seven feet to the engine house on Vine street is nearly completed. It is designed for the accommodation of the hose and hook and ladder companies, and is also of sufficient capacity for another steamer, should the wants of the city hereafter require one. The cost of the building, including land, will be about $8000.

The city farm I understand to be in a very good condition and well managed, and I have no doubt the annual report will contain gratifying evidence of the economy as well as the humanity of this mode of supporting the unfortunate poor.

A sense of security and protection to person and property is essential to our comfort and prosperity at home, and to our character as a city abroad. And for the attainment of these desirable results we must be indebted largely to the efficiency of our police department. Great care should be used in the selection of officers for this service. They should be men of undoubted integrity and energy, combined with judgment and humanity, and thus secure harmony and co-operation, without which their usefulness is liable to be greatly impaired. If evils cannot be eradicated, they certainly may, and should be, restrained within some limits, and it is the duty of the authorities to make those limits as narrow as public sentiment will possibly admit of.

I am informed that the amount disbursed monthly to the families of volunteers, is about $4000. This is a large sum, and great care should be used that none but those entitled to it should be the recipients of this bounty. That the city is only the agent of the state, which refunds the money expended for this purpose, should be an additional inducement for the exercise of care and caution in the discharge of this duty.

The aid and encouragement given to our military organizations by our city authorities, and also by citizens in their private capacity, has been of great advantage to our city, not only in providing us with a military force for any emergency that may occur, but greatly assisting us in responding to the calls of the National Government for soldiers. I think such aid and encouragement, in all proper ways, should be continued. And in this connection I would commend to your consideration the circular of the Adjutant General of the State, in which he treats this subject with that ability and discrimination to be expected from the head of our State military organization.

A certificate from the office of the Assistant Provost Marshal General for the State of New Hampshire, certifies that the city of Manchester had to its credit on the first day of June last, one hundred and fifty three-years men. And the records of our city treasurer show that since then we have paid the city bounty to one hundred and fourteen three-years men and one two-years man. Thus it would seem to be a well established fact, that we have to the credit of our quota for calls for men to reinforce the national armies, two hundred and sixty-four three-years men and one two-years man. From a recent decision of the Provost Marshal General, in relation to the quota of Massachusetts, this credit will undoubtedly be allowed us on the present call for three hundred thousand men.

The recent brilliant successes of our arms, together with the hopeful view of the military situation generally, leads to the belief that the calls for men for the army will not be large. Should it be deemed expedient at any time hereafter to renew the city bounty, it would seem to be no more than simple justice that those who may have enlisted or furnished recruits to be reckoned on the quota for the present call, as well as those who will do so, should participate in the bounty.

Gentlemen, having thus very briefly called your attention to the various departments of our city affairs, I desire in conclusion to impress upon your minds, as well as on my own, the importance of a prompt and earnest attention to the duties of our respective positions. Our fellow-citizens have the right to require of us the time and the labor necessary for the proper and efficient discharge of those duties; and humbly looking to the Divine Power for aid, let us labor faithfully for the promotion of the greatest good to all the interests of our city.

It is gratifying to me to know that I am to be associated with gentlemen of experience in public affairs, on whose aid and counsel I can rely at all times; and I feel a confident trust that I shall receive your hearty co-operation in such measures as will best promote the public welfare.

As we enter upon the respective duties assigned us, let us hope that harmony and mutual kind feelings may prevail in all our deliberations and intercourse with each other.

REPORT OF OVERSEERS OF POOR.

To the Mayor, Aldermen and Common Council of the City of Manchester :

In compliance with the requirements of Law, the Overseers of the Poor of said City, herewith present their annual report.

Whole number of paupers assisted the year past, who had a settlement in the State, is 169, of which 115 have a settlement in this City, and 54 have a settlement in other towns in the State. There have died of the above number, during the past year, 15,—10 belonging to this City, and 5 from other towns in the State.

The whole number of paupers at the Almshouse, during the past year, is 30 ; average number, 15. There have been 5 deaths there during the year.

We cannot close our report and feel that we have done our whole duty, without saying that on visiting the Almshouse, we were impressed with the importance at no distant day of a new building so constructed that the poor shall be separated from the prisoners. This question needs no argument. We trust the evil will be remedied as soon as the financial condition of the city will justify the necessary expenditure ; and we desire to bear our united testimony to the able and faithful manner in which Mr. Simpson, our superintendent, and his amiable wife have discharged their responsible and arduous duties, and most earnestly recommend to our successors that they be retained in their position if possible. All of which is respectfully submitted.

FREDERICK SMYTH, CHAIRMAN.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT.

ENGINEERS' ROOM, Manchester, Jan. 2, 1865.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN.—In compliance with the ordinance concerning the Fire Department, I herewith transmit to you my annual report of the condition of the Department, with an appraisal of all the property belonging to the same, the location of the several Engines and Apparatus, with the force belonging to the same, the location and condition of Reservoirs and other supplies of water within the city.

The force of the Department consists of a Chief Engineer and six Assistants, and ninety-five officers and members of the various companies connected with it. They are divided as follows:

Amoskeag, No. 1,	Steam Fire Engine,	14 men.
Fire King, No. 2,	“ “ “	14 men.
E. W. Harrington, No. 3,	“ “ “	12 men.
Pennacook Hose Company,		30 men.
Hook and Ladder Company,		25 men.

The apparatus consists of three Steam Fire Engines, viz: one first-class double Engine with rotary pump, one first-class double Engine with two double-acting plunger pumps, one first-class single Engine with one double-acting plunger pump, (built by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of this place,) three two-wheeled Hose Carriages, two four-wheeled carriages, and one Hook and Ladder truck.

The companies have in their possession 1150 feet of Rubber Hose, 5800 feet of common Hose, together with all the tools and equipments for extinguishing fires.

The above-mentioned apparatus is in good order, with the exception of the Hook and Ladder truck, which has been condemned by the Committee on Fire Department as unfit for fire service, and a new truck has been ordered from New York to be built by C. E. Hartshorn, of that city. It will be delivered here about the middle of this month, at a cost of eleven hundred dollars.

The Department now occupies three houses, one on Vine street, one on Manchester street, and one on Clinton street, Piscataquog. The one on Vine street is being enlarged so as to accommodate two more companies; one part is to be occupied by the Hook and Ladder Company with their new truck, which will then leave the houses on Manchester and Chestnut streets, belonging to the Fire Department, to be disposed of as the city government may deem proper.

There has been considerable difficulty for the past four or five years in getting the alarms promptly, as well as ascertaining the locality of fires, when an alarm is given, owing in a great measure to the fact that the City Hall bell is rung for all purposes, and is with great difficulty rung so that firemen can distinguish between ringing for fire and other purposes. To remedy that evil, a fire-alarm bell weighing one thousand and twenty-six pounds has been placed upon the new part of the house on Vine street. This bell being of a different tone from any in the city, and rung only in case of fire, will entirely do away with that difficulty, and by dividing the city into five districts and striking the number of the district the fire is in while ringing the alarm, firemen can ascertain at once the locality of the fire, thereby saving time and the confusion oftentimes occurring.

The drivers of the Amoskeag and Fire King Steamers are required to remain in their engine houses nights, sleeping apartments having been fitted up for that purpose. They are also required to work with their horses on the streets when wanted, under the direction of the Superintendent of Streets, alternately three days in the week, thereby securing at all times one driver and one pair of horses in readiness for fires. When not employed on the streets, both drivers are required to be in readiness at all times to start at an alarm of fire.

The Reservoirs are in good condition. Several are supplied from the pond on Hanover Square, (for location see table,) the others are from natural supplies; many of them are very good and some of not much account. Since the last report a reservoir has been built on Clinton street in Piscataquog. The house occupied by No. 3 Steamer has been removed from Main street and placed over one corner of the reservoir, so that by moving the engine out in front of the house, they have a good supply of water for any emergency.

I would recommend that a well be sunk beside the street at the south-west corner of Hanover Square, and connected with the pond by a pipe, thereby furnishing an abundance of water to protect the thickly-settled portion of the city situated south-west from the square.

The Fire Department has been called out seventeen times during the year. With the exception of the fires at Amoskeag on the Island, at Mechanics' Row, and the tannery at Bakersville, they have been very slight.

In conclusion, I return my sincere thanks to the Assistant Engineers, and the officers and members of the several companies for their cordial support in all measures connected with the interests of the department.

A. C. HEATH, CHIEF ENGINEER.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CEMETERIES.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and City Council of the City of Manchester :

The Committee on Cemeteries beg leave to present their annual report.

THE VALLEY.

Little has been done the past year beyond the usual care of the grounds. To supply a want long felt, a neat and substantial tool-house has been built on the southerly side of the brook.

The subject of building an avenue to wind along at the bottom of the banks on either side of the brook, has received some attention. It is thought that such an avenue neatly graded and turfed would add to the beauty of this part of the Cemetery. It would supply a large number of lots, otherwise of little value, and increase the revenue sufficiently to meet the outlay at least. We leave the question to our successors to determine whether such an undertaking is advisable.

PINE GROVE CEMETERY.

The number of lots sold in 1862, was	-	-	-	-	-	4
“ “ “ “ 1863, “	-	-	-	-	-	4
“ “ “ “ 1864, “	-	-	-	-	-	12
Total “ “ “	-	-	-	-	-	20

It will be seen that the call for lots here is increasing, owing in part to the scarcity of desirable lots in the Valley. To meet this demand, more than usual attention has been paid to grading and fitting up lots, and building walks and avenues in that part of the Cemetery where they are being sold. During the severe drought of last summer, some examinations were made in reference to obtaining a supply of water for the use of these grounds. A portion of your Committee visited the elevation of land to the east of the Cemetery, and were unanimous in the opinion that a full supply might be here obtained. We would suggest to our successors that immediate steps be taken to secure the right to take this water, and that they proceed as far in the consummation of the object as the means at their command will allow.

SCHOOL REPORT.

To the City Council:

The year which now closes its record has been marked by no extraordinary event in the administration of our public Schools. They have been in session two weeks less than the usual time, and have enrolled quite as large a number of pupils as in any former year.

The amount of money appropriated was $2,000 more than has been apportioned to the School department at any previous time. But in consequence of a deficiency at the commencement of the school year, and the advance in the cost of fuel and all materials for repairs and supplies, the entire sum of $20,000 school money has been expended, leaving at the present time not far from $2,000 of bills unpaid. This deficiency actually exists, notwithstanding a large proportion of the repairs have been made with the special appropriations voted by the Districts, and the expense of supporting the Schools diminished at least $1,000 by reducing the length of the Spring term and deducting a corresponding sum from the salaries of the teachers.

The following table shows the condition of the treasury at the commencement of the year 1864, the new appropriation for each district and the amount of funds at the disposal of the Committee during the year, not including district appropriations:

Districts.	In Treasury Jan. 1, 1864.	Overdrawn Jan. 1, 1864.	New Appropriation.	Totals.
1	$7 93		$225 00	$232 93
2		$315 32	16,200 00	15,884 68
3	10 31		275 00	285 31
4	11 90		250 00	261 90
5	66 15		200 00	266 15
6	23 39		225 00	248 39
7		21 34	300 00	278 66
8		1 38	255 00	223 62
9	9 99		220 00	259 99
10	89 32		1,250 00	1,339 32
11		63 63	600 00	536 37
Am'ts.	$218 99	$401 67	$20,000 00	$19,817 32

The following table exhibits the amounts paid for instruction, fuel, such repairs as were made with School money, supplies for school rooms, including new furniture, brooms, pails, mats, &c., and incidental expenses :

Districts.	Instruction and Care of Rooms.	Fuel.	Repairs.	Supplies.	Incident- als.	Totals.
1	$216 50	$17 00	$2 00		$9 50	$245 00
2	13,812 62	1,603 06	330 92	$154 85	631 59	16,533 04
3	242 98	16 98	5 25		8 86	274 07
4	246 00	45 45	8 25	3 23	12 00	289 81
5	215 50	20 50	33		11 00	247 33
6	182 00	2 50	3 00	1 95	11 25	200 70
7	276 00	6 00	14 85	1 32	9 50	307 67
8	220 67	21 00	3 00		11 50	256 17
9	330 34		9 74	25	11 25	351 58
10	1,010 40	105 12	112 69	5 50	39 75	1,273 46
11	522 55	64 85	10 07	5 50	7 00	673 60

In addition to the above expenditures, School District No. 2, appropriated to pay debt and interest $2000, which with balance of previous year, $286,82, made a total of $2,286,82. The entire debt of the district ($2,264,16) has been cancelled, leaving a balance in the treasury of $22,66.

For insurance $200 was appropriated, which with $7,75 surplus the previous year, has been expended according to district vote. For repairs, the appropriation, including the amount in treasury at the close of the preceding year, was. $343,85, which has been wholly expended. The sum of $50 reported last year to the credit of the printing account has also been expended in paying for printing two annual reports. The amount now in treasury to the credit of the district is $119,84.

In several of the other districts there were special appropriations, but as they were not controlled by the School board, they receive no attention in this report.

The Treasurer's report which we present in this connection will show in detail the various expenditures in the several districts for the year.

H. R. CHAMBERLIN, TREASURER.

Manchester, December 31, 1864.

As was stated in the report of last year, and frequently previous to that time, many of our low-grade Schools are much too large. The demands which fifty pupils from the age of four to ten years daily make upon a teacher are far too many for any instructor. Some pupil must be neglected though the teacher is conscious of inflicting an injury with every instance of inability to meet the full requirements of the school. Additional primary schools should be at once opened to relieve the pressure in the schools on Park Street, Franklin Street and Spring Street. Three new schools are now demanded in those locations, and would have been established during the past year had the Committee been furnished with the means necessary to employ the teachers required.

To meet these wants, to support the schools now existing, to establish new primary schools, and to make provisions for sixty teachers and an annual enrollment of more than 3000 pupils, will require a largely increased appropriation. It will be impossible to sustain the present school system, without increasing the annual compensation of teachers, to say nothing of new schools, and of the imperative demands which have been named, for a less amount than $23,000. If additional schools are to be opened, if the present high cost of living continues, more money must of necessity be paid to teachers, and more expended in every department of the schools. The committee have estimated the expenses of continuing the schools the usual length of time—40 weeks—and are confident that a sum less than $24,000 will be entirely inadequate to meet the demands for the coming year. If to this we add the estimated indebtedness on the first of March—$6,000—we shall need an appropriation of $30,000 to continue the schools through the year and until the appropriation is made in 1866.

There has been some progress made during the year in providing a better class of school-houses in some of the districts. In the Central District, the sum appropriated by district vote for repairs has been expended in making the items of repairs which are constantly occurring. But no money has been expended in remodeling school-rooms, or in building new houses. A lot for a High School House has been purchased and some steps have been taken towards the erection of a house the coming year. Should the district be disposed to appropriate a few thousand dollars additional to the $20,000 already ordered, the committee would be enabled to proceed with the work.

The outstanding notes against the Central District at the date of our last report have all been cancelled, and the district is now entirely out of debt, having the full title to about $100,000 worth of real estate.

In District No. 3, after much delay and at a late date, a new and convenient house has been completed, at a cost of a little more than $1,800. It is 40 by 30 feet, with 14 feet posts, and a projection in front for an entry. It is furnished with Shattuck's Boston school chairs and is one of the most attractive school buildings in the city.

In District No. 5, an effort was made to secure better school accommodations, and at a legal meeting of the district a vote was passed to purchase a lot and erect a new house. The money was appropriated and a building committee appointed. But so many obstacles presented themselves that the work was not undertaken.

School District No. 7 voted to enlarge their school-house, and make other improvements, which render both the location and the house more acceptable, but the wants of the district are not yet fully met, and will not be until a house shall be erected adequate for two schools, or until some other provision shall be made to accommodate the 75 or 80 children in the district.

A large number of teachers have been examined during the year, though but few vacancies have occurred by resignations or dismissals, and consequently but few new names occur in the list for the present year.

The names and salaries of teachers elected are given in the accompanying list:

Teacher of Music—I. S. Whitney,.....	700

In this body of teachers, it would be a remarkable circumstance if all were thoroughly qualified for the work assigned them; and it would be still more remarkable if, among them all, there should be even one who was beyond proper criticism. We have good teachers—as good as can be found, not merely in our own state, but in those states claiming to lead in the educational movements of the country. We have those—not a large number—who teach in the love of teaching; who are not content when they have proposed the set and sometimes incomprehensible questions in the text-books, but who labor to give all the instruction that can be given in the public school, communicating it by no mere formality of words, but in living, earnest thoughts and original illustrations, which none but a cultivated, enthusiastic mind can command.

It is not pleasant to say that we have teachers of a widely different class in many of our school-rooms—those who undertake to teach because it is, in their judgment, more honorable than to have no occupation, or to be employed in manual labor. They have sufficient knowledge of books to pass a satisfactory examination, and this answers the terms of the statute. But their instruction in the school-room shows want of mental strength and culture, and the intellectual character of the teacher makes its impress on the pupil. Under such instruction there may be accurate recitations, learned word by word as given in the text-book; classes may appear admirably on examination so long as questions are confined to the prescribed lessons, and are given in the exact language in which they have been accustomed to read them, but a collateral question shows at once the limit of their knowledge, and is the true measure of the teacher's capacity.

Not only in giving instruction do some teachers fail, but they make a more serious failure in the government of the children under their care. They do not understand the diversity of mind on which they are to exert an influence. They do not consider that every word and act of theirs is watched by the child, who often wonders at the many inconsistencies of the teacher. The least departure from justice in the awards of merits or punishments—from prudence in the school-room or elsewhere, in the presence of the pupil, will tend to destroy confidence in the teacher, and fill the young mind with doubts and prejudices which may never be counteracted.

In a large majority of our schools, the permanency of the teachers is very favorable to progress. Even poor teachers are sometimes tolerated for too long a period in consequence of the evils which follow a change. In the country districts there are repeated changes in teachers, in some cases three or more different teachers being employed at the same school within a single year. Partly in consequence of this practice, and partly for other reasons, the schools in the suburban districts of the city do not sustain that reputation for good scholarship, punctuality in attendance, and rigid discipline which give character and efficiency to most of the schools in the central districts. There is a general want of spirit in them—they are without ambition. In all of them are some good scholars, but the majority will not rank favorably with the other pupils of the city, nor with those in country schools in the neighboring towns.

In the several schools of this class, except District No. 6, male teachers were employed for the winter term. The only failure occurred in District No. 8, although considerable difficulty was experienced by the teacher in District No. 1. While the other schools were good, the most labor was evidently done in No. 7. With the exception of the school in District No. 9, which has continued under the instruction of a male teacher during the entire school year, these country schools have been taught by females. Though in a few instances there was some inefficiency, the general character of the summer schools has been much better than in former seasons.

There are in Districts No. 2, 10 and 11 twenty Primary Schools, registering more than two thousand different pupils in a year. When we compare the management and progress of these school with those of the same grade elsewhere, we have the right to decide that with but few exceptions, they are well conducted. But when we consider what an intelligent and faithful teacher might do with 30 or 40 instead of 60 or 70 pupils in one room, we cannot refrain from expressing the regret, that we have not the facilities for greatly increasing the number of our primary schools, or the means of employing additional instruction in a majority of them.

There are at present nine schools classed under the name of Middle Schools, though only seven of them fully reach the required standard of this grade. Two of this number do not now maintain so high a rank as the others, and will require more rigid discipline to restore them to their former efficiency. The majority of these schools are most excellently managed, and are instrumental in laying a sound foundation on which to build up good scholarship in the higher grades of school.

The schools which may be classed in the Grammar Grade, are the two higher schools on the west side of the river, that at Wilson Hill, the Intermediate, and those on Park, Franklin and Spring Streets. They now number nearly 800 pupils and sixteen teachers.

The school at Amoskeag has been subject to frequent change of teachers, and has not at all times been in a very promising state of discipline. It possesses sufficient talent for a good school, and with a faithful, permanent teacher who understands how to govern as well as teach, it would not long rank as the lowest in the grade of Grammar schools. The Piscataquog school numbers about 65 pupils, which furnish sufficient work for the two teachers now employed. It is thoroughly classified and is managed with as much system as the large Grammar schools in the Central District. The school at Wilson Hill is under good control, though sometimes rude and troublesome boys find admission who require a severer discipline than is generally exercised by a female teacher.

The Intermediate School maintains about the same standing as it has for some years past. The Winter term brings in a large number of boys and girls who attend school no other portion of the year, and are sometimes rough and impatient of restraint. But under the management of the present principal they have been easily reduced to submission and often show superior ability to learn. During other terms of the year, the school is so small and orderly that a judicious woman finds but little difficulty in its management.

The Boys' School on Park Street is making very satisfactory progress. No teacher labors more diligently or has more obstacles in the way of success than the principal of this school.

The two large Grammar Schools the past year have been more than ordinarily successful, having had a larger number of pupils, unexceptionable discipline, a good degree of attendance and more than ever before the confidence of the public. They have never been under better instruction, been less subject to complaint, or appeared better on examination than during the past term.

The attendance at the High School has not been as large as usual. This has resulted in part from a disposition of pupils to remain longer in the Grammar grade and partly from various circumstances which were beyond the control of the Committee.

The order in this school is very much more gratifying at the present time than it has been for some years past, and the instruction in the classics by the present principal has never been excelled. The teachers have directed their most earnest efforts to the advancement of the pupils, and have the satisfaction of knowing that considering the want of facilities which the school experiences, the pupils render a good account of their privileges.

The following table shows the attendance, deportment and scholarship of the pupils:

The course of study prescribed by the Board has been observed with but slight variations, in all the schools, and with some modifications should be rigidly followed in the future. It has not been practical at all times, to observe a prescribed course in the classics in the High School, in consequence of the small number of pupils in Greek and the more difficult Latin works. But in the Natural Sciences and in Mathematics the course is thorough and faithfully regarded.

If our pupils are marked for superiority in any single branch of study, it is in Mathematics.

From the Primary School in the mere table-book of figures, through the Middle and Grammar grades where mental and written mathematics are daily studied, up to the High School, where Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Surveying are thoroughly mastered, there is no escape from the severer discipline of mathematics. It is not merely a passing over these works but a rigid drill, day by day, so long as the pupil remains in the public schools. If our pupils fail in this department of study when they go into practical life, it is not for neglect on the part of the teachers of our common schools, nor for any oversight of those whose duty it is to superintend the public school interests of the city. The other branches of study usually allowed in common schools are pursued with system and exactness, and though pupils may not always stand the test of practice in grammar, geography or history, though they may fail in orthography or in reading, it is not because too little is required of them, but rather that their attention is not directed with sufficient earnestness to them, or their minds are so organized as not readily to distinguish truth from error.

The success which the introduction of music into our schools has met seems to demand a more extended notice than it has heretofore received.

At the commencement of the Autumn term, 1860, the School Committee decided to introduce vocal music into our schools, and accordingly engaged Mr. I. S. Whitney as teacher. The progress of the pupils was at first slow, and by many the experiment was considered as a doubtful one. Some maintained that the good results would never balance the expense of the effort; but the Committee thought otherwise and the result has proved the correctness of their opinion. They were fortunate in their selection of a teacher, and evidently put the right man in the right place. His efforts for the schools were so apparent in November of the same year, that with only about three months drill, he presented his pupils in a public exhibition which proved to be of such a character as to inaugurate a new era for music and for the children and parents of the city, and led to the permanent establishment of the Public School Festival.

The opponents of vocal music in school became converted to its favor, and since that day a school anniversary would be a tame affair, possessing little of interest without its inspiring and cheering accompaniment of vocal music.

Since 1860, music has been found to be so elevating an influence in the schools it has been continued, with results which have made better and more favorable impressions upon the public from year to year, until its great utility as an educational agency was made most evident at the last annual Festival. On this occasion the people generally, and the friends of music in particular, must have been exceedingly gratified with the musical taste and cultivation exhibited by the pupils. A gentleman who maintains a high reputation for his musical talent, gives his impressions of the evening's exercises and of the value of vocal music in our public schools in the accompanying paragraphs which we append to this report:

“Chanting, choral singing, solo, duet and chorus were given by the pupils of our common schools with so much truthfulness and exactness of movement, that amateurs and professional persons were alike astonished at the great and glorious work which Mr. Whitney is perfecting among us ; and his great success may be attributed to his energy, his persistence in the right method, his actual undying love for the art, and his untiring zeal and constant, continued effort in the only right direction to produce just the right results. Public opinion, however wrong at the start, will no longer need conversion in regard to continuing and increasing facilities for the practice of music in all our schools. All who are interested in our educational movements must see that one of the natural results of school music, and a most interesting and important one, will be this :—In the course of a few years, all the children who give proper attention to the subject, will be trained to engage acceptably in the music of the parlor and the music of the church—an object worthy of patient, systematic, well-directed, constant and continual effort.

“ Experience has taught that the best, if not the only way in which all persons may become educated to sing, is by having music taught in all our schools ; and in regard to the method of teaching, there can be no doubt that our worthy instructor, Mr. Whitney, has adopted and persevered in the best system. The results witnessed at our annual Festivals, testify unmistakably to the correctness of such teaching. In the first place we observe that there is unity of method in the singing exercises throughout all the schools. Now to train separate masses of two thousand children in forty different schools so that they shall sing even the plainest chant or choral well when brought together, is to train them thoroughly and truly ; the discipline must be as exact as clock-work in each separate body or they never can chime together as a whole. The last Festival proves that Mr. Whitney has adopted the real, bona fide, unitary mode of teaching the rudiments of music. The music performed by the schools there congregated prove to us that though music be not taught as a science in school, yet these children have been taught in the most simple way and have actually learned to read music and to know as much about the science as they can yet make practical use of. Mr. Whitney has evidently made the best use of such opportunity as has been afforded him for teaching. His pupils evidently love and respect him, they have confidence in him and know that he is master of the art which he attempts to teach. He does not attempt to teach music in our day schools as a science, for he knows that a child's mind should not be burdened with indigestible abstractions; for facts and applications it has natural appetite and aptitude, but not for scientific rules and principles. Mr. Whitney has demonstrated the fact that a child may learn music, learn to sing, without learning the musical science; his pupils learn and know the A B C of music; they go through a brief conventional routine, which they learn as they do the names of the streets and how to find their way about in them. The great benefit derived is, the formation of a good ear, the right exercise of the voice, and the cultivation of the inborn sense of rhythm, tune and harmony. This is all, and to this judicious and correct method, Mr. Whitney owes much of his success. He is, as has been before said, the right man in the right place. Sustain him there.

"The earliest age, that of six, seven or ten years, is the most appropriate for learning to sing; voice and ear, so obedient to external impressions, are rapidly developed and improved, defects corrected, and musical capabilities awakened. Experience and observation have taught that a considerable proportion of all children, who could at first neither sound a single tone nor distinguish one from another, have acquired at our public schools, ear and voice, and some of them have even become superior in both to their apparently more gifted companions; in others, the very weak or indifferent voices have in a short time become pleasing, strong, clear and extended.

"We know by experience, that when children are brought together, they imperceptibly impart cheerfulness, and stimulate each other to exertion and activity; thus, the influence of singing upon the ear and voice, and in the health and morals of the pupils, will be increased ten-fold, when aided by the participation of numbers in this pleasurable exercise; the delicate and nervous child will gain strength and confidence, and the slow and indolent be roused. Imitation, that powerful spring of human action—the example of their companions, their progress, and even their mistakes—furnish the teacher with the means of making his lessons more interesting and successful, than he could ever render them by individual tuition, however great his zeal or talent. And so we find, that the children take that intense interest in their lessons which, at their age, is in general only bestowed upon play; at home the influence of singing extends itself to their habits and dispositions, and consequently to their moral character.

"If we are agreed to have music recognized and taught at all, is it not best to have it taught in earnest? If a thing is worth doing, is it not worth doing well? It never will and never can be done well until there shall be one method and one mind presiding over all the music teaching in the schools. There should be one inspiring and controlling genius in the matter; one competent, live man, who has it in him, who has enthusiasm, knowledge, the tact and the power of influencing others; and for him it should be an office of dignity and trust, publicly valued as we value all high functions, to infuse true life and order into the musical department of our schools. Have we all this now? and if so, do we give this individual the encouragement and support which he has a right to ask and receive? If not, is it not plainly our duty to do so? Consider, for a moment, the spirit and tendencies of our country and the characteristics of its people—a toiling, speculating, money-getting, fast-living, excitable race—wearing themselves out with labor or with thought, reckless and impatient always. Was there ever a nation more requiring the amenities of life, more needing an infusion of the æsthetic among the harsh and discordant elements of their composition?"

"Never is a Nation finished, while it wants the grace of art;
Use must borrow robes of beauty; life must rise above the mart;
Here, as yet, in our Republic, in the furrows of our soil,
Slowly grow Art's timid blossoms, 'neath the heavy foot of toil—
Spurn it not, but spare it—nurse it, till it gladdens all the land."

There are other topics which claim the attention of the public, that we might discuss, but it is not our intention to repeat what other committees have proposed nor to extend our report beyond what circumstances seem to require. From what we have said thus far, it will be seen that our schools are in a comparatively good condition—that they are generally under the direction of faithful, earnest, competent teachers, that they are composed of intelligent, obedient and industrious pupils; that although they are not yet perfect nor as useful as they may become, they maintain a high rank in comparison with other schools, and constitute one of the most valuable blessings afforded our citizens.

JAMES O. ADAMS,

SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Manchester, December 31, 1864.
